Churches over the past generations have been weakened by a failure to meet both the physical and spiritual needs of their communities. Many have adopted a narrow vision, focusing on only one aspect of ministry. But in today's environment of faith-based opportunities many Christians are eager to start reaching out to their world with both Good News and good works, and therefore they are searching for appropriate ways to integrate both into their ministry. In Churches That Make a Difference, best-selling author Ron Sider and his coauthors give those involved in community outreach a comprehensive resource for developing holistic ministry--a balance of evangelism and social outreach. Illustrations and helpful organizational tips detail the how-to's of an effective holistic ministry. Case studies that show how different churches across the United States reach out to their communities provide a variety of ideas and practical applications. User-friendly tools are included as well for congregational studies, surveys, evaluations, and community assessments. The authors draw on extensive experience with church ministries and faith-based organizations as they share the life-changing vision and biblical mandate for living the whole gospel. Church leaders will be encouraged in their process of developing and maintaining a holistic ministry, and local churches will rediscover a passion for loving the whole person the way Jesus did. DR. ALTHEA MARCHELLE BROWN serves as an ordained itinerant elder in the Fourth Episcopal District and served in that position in the Sixth Episcopal District of the AME Church. She earned her Master of Divinity from Turner Theological Seminary, at the Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta, Georgia; and a Doctor of Ministry from the Ecumenical Theological Seminary in Detroit, Michigan. Her other two books, published by AuthorHouse, are Holy Spirit: Fruit and Gift Seminar and Praise and Worship: Heaven's Street Address. These guidebooks and study aides are practical and authoritative resources for church leaders and practitioners in ministry. The evangelistic focus of the Southern Baptist Convention has diminished, creating unprecedented challenges. In Fuel the Fire, Chuck Kelley intends to start a conversation. A denomination accustomed to the inevitability of growth is in the grip of decline. By remembering the evangelistic strategies and core convictions that have strengthened the Southern Baptist Convention since its humble beginnings, and by cultivating the theological focus that enhances modern-day evangelistic engagement, readers will find new urgency in carrying out the work of evangelism. Kelley emphasizes that strategies are important; however, our efforts are in vain apart from a stirring of the Holy Spirit. Evangelism doesn't have to be frustrating or intimidating. Bill Hybels and Mark Mittelberg believe that effectively communicating our faith in Christ should be the most natural thing in the world. We just need encouragement and direction. In Becoming a Contagious Christian, Hybels and Mittelberg articulate the central principles that have helped the believers at Willow Creek Community Church become a church known around the world for its outstanding outreach to unchurched people. Based on the words of Jesus and flowing from the firsthand experiences of the authors, Becoming a Contagious Christian is a groundbreaking, personalized approach to relational evangelism. You will discover your own natural evangelism style, how to develop a contagious Christian character, to build spiritually strategic relationships, to direct conversations toward matters of faith, and to share biblical truths in everyday language. This landmark book presents a blueprint for starting a spiritual epidemic of hope and enthusiasm for spreading the Gospel. Billy Graham has shared the Good News of Christ with more people than anyone in history. The Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, which he founded, ministers to hundreds of thousands of people each year through community-wide evangelism events, radio and television, Internet, Decision magazine, evangelism training, seminars, telephone ministry, and literature distribution. Ministers and other speakers will discover a wealth of illustrative and inspirational messages for sermons and every day living. Any Christian with a gift and calling for evangelistic witnessing will find themselves caught up in how the Good News of Jesus has been passed down through time. John Mark Terry recounts the fascinating story of Jesus and His saving power in a warm, clear, and interesting manner. Read how the Gospel message has been communicated in a variety of times and cultures and by various means. You keep your business affairs well organized, are sensitive to the financial and material needs of others and are ready and willing to give if a valid need exists but want to be sure your gift is used properly. You tend to make wise decisions concerning finances and prefer to keep your giving a private matter between God and you. Sometimes people think you are materialistic or controlling because of the importance you put on money, but they misunderstand your intention of being a good steward of the resources God has entrusted to you. If this sounds like you, you probably want to develop your gift of giving! This book addresses: What Is Giving, Passion and Privilege of the Gift of Giving, Giving: An Extension of God's Grace, Avoiding the Pitfalls When Fulfilling the Gift of Giving, The Role of the Gift of Giving in the Local Church, Giving God's Way, Finding Your Place on the Ministry Team, Identifying Your Gift of Giving, A Two-Year Plan to Begin Thinking Like a Giver, How to Discern Worthy Ministries to Support. Because of the more aggressive and confrontational tactics we hear about, evangelism has developed a bad connotation. Doors are shut hurriedly, phone calls end abruptly, and e-mails left unanswered. After all, isn't this a task better handled by the pastor? Perhaps it's time to reexamine John Wesley's model of evangelism as a full, natural circle—where it's a communal beginning point rather than a solitary end. The central motive of authentic evangelism is: Having received a message that's made all the difference in our lives, we desire to share that message with others in the hope that it will transform their lives as well. Wesley models an evangelism that reaches out and welcomes, invites, and nurtures, and speaks to both head and heart. "Evangelism is about relationship," the authors write. "How we are in relationship to God, who is able to transform us into new beings. How we are in relationship to our neighbor, whom we must love like ourselves." As one reviewer says, "Knight and Powe have given us a relational book. They describe the deep connection between John Wesley's thoughts, Charles Wesley's hymns, scholarly thinking about evangelism and biblical understandings of the gospel—all in relation to the needs, concerns, and hopes of everyday people." Learn on your own or as a congregational group from this practical study on living an evangelistic life that demonstrates the transforming power of loving God and neighbor. Tools and advice for assessing your church "These are dangerous days for the organized church.... It is time to be alert to what is taking place and make some changes." So writes Lloyd Perry in his introduction to Getting the Church on Target. Dr. Perry then goes on to outline ways the local church can be revitalized. His concerns are reflected in chapter titles such as: Having God's Man in God's Place for Ministry Clarifying Purposes, Goals, and Objectives Systematizing Church Management Training for Leadership Mobilizing the Laity Managing Conflict Creatively Establishing Small Groups for Ministry Expanding the Outreach of the Church Updating Our Worship The final chapter includes five sample self-evaluation surveys to help a church assess its problems and progress. Like no other book before it, Charts for a Theology of Evangelism gathers ninety-three unique charts based on author Thomas P. Johnston's twenty-three years of practicing and teaching personal evangelism. This excellent classroom, preaching, or personal study resource features nine major sections, and each chart from "The Urgencies that Drive Evangelism" to "Five Interpretations of 'Salt' in Matthew 5-13" to "Biblical Stages in Theological Drift," includes an explanation and contextual set-up from the author. Do you desire a more active role in helping people accept Jesus, but aren't sure how to begin? This standalone study guide outlines steps for starting a powerful prayer program that focuses on group prayer. The companion book, A Time To Pray God's Way, gives hands-on advice and helpful suggestions. This book is a "journey book." Sitting down at a computer and producing the story has been a grand trek. I have learned that there is a principle in nature that some things need to mellow, calm down, and soak in. The refusal of winemakers to take a wine before its time is a notion I am coming to understand. It works with writers as well. Like a fetus signaling its mother that it is time to head for the hospital, a literary work stays in the mind until its time. In my education, I have read of the battles of great Church leaders who were eventually thrown out of their churches. In my denominational education, I was largely led to see them as heretics, rebels, eccentrics, revolutionaries, apostates, and as generally representing a lower form of spirituality. Church education often asked me to surrender my biases in favor of accepting a new set of assumptions—my denominational ones. We were to be critical of everything except our organization. I submit that there is danger in that. This book will cover incidents from the first forty years of my life as a religious addict. You may find something here that you can identify with. When we become Christians, we consciously repent of our bad habits--a promise to make a 180° turn from habits that displease God toward habits that please Him. We do this through and by faith alone. Yet faith alone does not suddenly "make good" our promise. It is our faith that gives us the reason to act upon our promise, but our action is still needed. So how do we put action into our plan? How do we rid ourselves of these bad habits and substitute habits that are in God's will? This book will help you do just that...create a lifestyle of doing God's will. You will learn how to: * Develop a lifestyle of greater respect for God * Love God with all of your being * Learn to love and care for others * Witness in a way that takes your personality and abilities into account * Develop a lifestyle where Bible study is a throughout-the-day activity And that's why this book is called LET'S GET GROWING, CHRISTIANS! It's about practically applying plans of action to get you growing as a Christian—living a life of doing God's will. Complete, practical, inspiring - this is 'Training for Evangelism'. Sharing both the successes and the failures of his own church's evangelism program, Richard Sisson presents ideas and principles for fulfilling the Great Commission. God is getting His church ready for the coming revival and this book tells followers how they can prepare to help. (Christian Religion) Here is a comprehensive guide to the how-to's of the African-American church and many aspects of its ministry. If you are one of the millions of Christians who love the Lord but have held back from sharing your faith even when you wanted to, At Last, I Can Witness is the book you have been waiting for! At last you'll be able to share Jesus with those in your personal Jerusalem – your family, relatives, and friends, with compassion and confidence! You'll fearlessly reach out to your Judean neighbors and co-workers with the Good News you have been longing to give them! You'll also learn how to reach the fellow travelers in your personal Samaria - your 'frequent flyer' contacts...and even your enemies to introduce them to your best friend - and theirs! And, if you dare, you may even venture out to the uttermost parts of (your) world to take the gospel 'to every creature!' Find out how you can go bowling (or fishing, camping, picnicking...) for Jesus!; how to 'let your fingers do the walking' - while dialing the Good News!; how to write letters - for God!; you'll even learn how to beat the Mormons and Jehovah's Witnesses at their own game!; and for those who love a mystery...the tract that nobody is using! In short, you'll learn how to witness to anyone, anywhere, anytime – and love doing it! At Last, I Can Witness will make the thought of sharing the Good News good news to you! Drawing on his many years as a pastor, as well as a national church leader and staff member for evangelism, Clinton Marsh confronts head-on the declining membership of mainline Protestant churches with this biblical and practical book on growing the church into the twenty-first century. Affirming the work of the Holy Spirit, and using the teaching of Jesus as a model, Marsh advocates an approach to evangelism driven by love. Accomplished author Richard Stoll Armstrong speaks openly and honestly about how a pastor functions with evangelical sensitivity in the roles of visitor, counselor, teacher, discipler, administrator, and public figure. He describes the specific opportunities for evangelism in each of these functions. Ways are suggested in which pastors can lead conversations and group or class meetings that open up opportunities for discussion of faith questions. From a minister, professor, and recognized leader in the field of evangelism comes a challenge to pastors to take a new look at their mission. Richard Stall Armstrong invites pastors to put on "evangelistic glasses" to perceive what it means to be a pastor-evangelist in terms of personal relationships and in light of the various factors that define evangelism. Clearly and compellingly, Armstrong shows how to take the responsibility for evangelism seriously. He analyzes in a concrete way the many contexts of evangelism--the difference between witnessing to the young and the old, to individuals and groups, on the telephone or on television. He counsels pastors to adopt not a particular method but rather a style that is nondogmatic, that blends consistency with flexibility, and, above all, one that reflects the integrity and power of the Christian message. Biblically based, theologically sound, and vocationally relevant, this book is full of useful ideas and practical suggestions that will benefit pastors, professors, and seminarians. Dr. Althea Brown's guidebook and study aid Evangelism: Go Make... (Matt. 28:19), is spiritual and powerful that helps readers learn to become disciples through evangelism. This instructive guidebook and study aid describes evangelism in spiritual, practical, and meaningful ways to help anyone who has a genuine interest in evangelism as a ministry. It is packed with tools designed to work efficiently in various congregations regardless of its size or location. In this enlightening guidebook and study aid, Dr. Brown scrupulously tackles one of the most critical issues concerning men and women's spiritual journey. It addresses how the church reaches others as it encourages the born-again Believer's interest to properly utilize the divine gift of outreach. It helps readers know more about Jesus of Nazareth and offers a way to win the lost, to redeem the wayward, and to reconcile the marginalized members of the communities. It employs various effective methods, techniques, and tools that can be useful to the church, the Body of Christ and its leaders, as they seek to fulfill Christ Jesus' "Great Commission," that is, to make disciples--sheep of the church (members) should make other sheep (members), for shepherds (pastors) do not make sheep (members). Lastly, it is an authoritative resource for how the power of the Holy Spirit empowers believers TODAY to persuasively impact the nation. The reader will gain tools to go from being quiet and shy to evangelizing the world for the glory of our heavenly Father! This book brings 55 years of evangelism experience to you. Holding "Schools of Evangelism" in cities like San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tampa and San Diego, Jerry has equipped and mobilized churches and workers to the streets of their city through his "Project Light" homeless outreaches. His approach to "Kingdom of God" witnessing utilizes supernatural gifts like healing, deliverance and salvation. You will learn how Jesus received His anointing to minister. How Jesus handed off His same authority and anointing to win your city. Through Jerry's "Just Ask Me" workshops, he trains you to write your own story, wear the "Just Ask Me" button, and people will ask you to witness to them. All printed on a professional three fold, 1,200 word pamphlet. You can easily share your personal story of your salvation with anyone who asks you what your "Just Ask Me" button means! Jerry started Kingdom Life University to disciple and equip the body of Christ both in America and internationally. Action Evangelism forms MAT (Ministry Action Teams) to do remote village evangelism and start village churches. KLU has trained many pastors to take their nations for Christ through KLU mission campuses. One of Jerry's latest evangelism tools is the "Smart Phone Mission". Gathering used smart phones from churches across the world and downloading them to become video players with the "Jesus Film", the bible in their dialect, and other important videos for remote villages that don't have television or electricity. This means the 2.9 billion unreached people in the world, will have the opportunity to hear and even see the gospel message for the first time. Essential guidance for a lifestyle of sharing God's good news with a lost world. What exactly does it mean to "evangelize" in a Christian sense? And how is such evangelizing supposed to be done? Longtime pastor, evangelist, and professor of evangelism Timothy K. Beougher answers these questions and more from theological, historical, and practical perspectives. Beougher demonstrates God's goodness in evangelism through relatable anecdotes, Bible teaching, and encouraging instruction. Invitation to Evangelism welcomes believers into the experience of stepping out in faith of behalf of people God loves. Most Christians know that they should be sharing the good news of Jesus Christ with nonbelievers, and most also know they aren't witnessing very well, or even at all. They need help internalizing the content of gospel proclamation and identifying the best way to go about making evangelism a natural part of their lives. Invitation to Evangelism guides readers through the essential issues of the gospel message, evangelism methods, and witnessing models so they are ready and excited to move out in faith as everyday evangelists. Beougher's biblical, theological, historical, and practical teaching revolves around following essential aspects of being an evangelist: Having compassion as the motivation for evangelism Understanding the good news of Jesus Christ Seeing lost people as persons God loves Relying on the power of the Holy Spirit Paving the way for new believers to share their faith eagerly with others 'Examining Billy Graham's Theology of Evangelism' was written to advance an unbiased understanding of Billy Graham's theology and practice. Theological examination of Graham's sermons revealed four distinct eras in his theology and practice: -The Early-Early Graham (pre-1949) -The Early Graham (1949-1955) -The Middle Graham (1955-1965) -The Later Graham (1965-present) In each of these eras Graham portrayed a discernible and distinct approach to defining evangelism, theological nomenclature, and cooperative strategy. No literature on Billy Graham discusses, in combination, this evolution in Graham's theology and practice. You are invited to take a fresh look at the teaching and practice of this man who has touched millions of lives through the proclamation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Mittelberg presents a proven process for raising the value of evangelism in your heart and in your church. He spells out strategies for training all of a church's members to naturally communicate their faith and offers ideas for initiating outreach ministries and events. Includes inspiring stories of lives and churches that have been changed as a result of these practical, biblical approaches.
